Wedding Bells

BURTON — DALLOW
On August 15 the Irma United Church was beautifully decorated with gladioli and sweet peas for the wedding of Edith June Dallow, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Dallow of Irma, and Donald Alfred Burton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Burton of Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. W. Inglis.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon with matching lace mittens. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a wreath of rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of red roses and pink carnations.
Miss Edna Dallow, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She chose a floor-length gown of pink net over taffeta with lace bolero and matching head-dress of pink apple blossoms. Her bouquet was of large white lilies.
Mr. Roy Burton, brother of the groom, was best man and Mr. Eric Dallow acted as usher.
Mrs. S. Coulman played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Miss Doreen Simmerman sang "Because."
Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.
To receive her guests Mrs. Dallow chose a navy sheer dress with corsage of red carnations. The groom's mother wore a black and gold taffeta dress. Her corsage was of varied colored carnations.
The three-tiered wedding cake beautifully decorated by Mrs. H. Riley, was a gift from Mrs. E. J. Jones.
The Rev. Inglis proposed the toast to the bride.
Following the reception the bride and groom left for a honeymoon at Banff. The couple will make their home at the groom's farm north-east of Irma.

Successful W.I. Conference Held at Bruce September 4

The 34th Annual Conference of the Women's Institutes, Wainwright Constituency, was held in Bruce Friday, September 4, 1953. The Bruce W.I. went all out to make the visitors welcome, the hall being tastefully decorated and bouquets of summer flowers were much appreciated, to say nothing of the delicious lunch and tea catered to by the Bruce and Rosegarland W.I. branches.
The weatherman was also on his best behavior. An even 100 members and friends signed the register. Gerald W.I. were the only members unable to be present.
Mrs. E. G. Davis, President of Bruce W.I., welcomed the ladies to Bruce, to which the President of Rosegarland W.I., Mrs. E. Suddaby, ably responded.
Mrs. S. Lefsrud, Viking, Provincial President, Mrs. J. I. Jones, Mannville, Director of District No. II, Mrs. C. L. Brickman, Constituency Convener, and Mrs. Art Evans of Viking, Secretary, were on the platform.
Reports were heard from all the branches and conveners of Standing Committees, which showed a trend towards increased interest in the work being done for the betterment of our Home and Country.
Mrs. Brickman, retiring Constituency Convener, having served a four-year term, was presented with a life membership in the Alberta W.I. by Mrs. Lefsrud on behalf of the fourteen branches in her Constituency. The newest branch "Shady Cove," N.E. of Viking, being organized approximately 36 hours before the Conference, with eight members joining. Mrs. Dave Dorwood President and Mrs. Arthur Francis Secretary.
The report for which all were waiting came when Mrs. Lefsrud described her visit to the A.C.W.W. Conference recently held in Toronto, where approximately 900 members were gathered, representing 124 organizations around the world. Mrs. Lefsrud described their trip to Stony Creek, Ont., where the first W.I. was formed in 1897 by Adelaide Hoodless. She also told about the round table discussions and the problems to be solved by the help of these women. "Start where you are with what you have" said Mrs. Sayre, retiring World President, Mrs. A. M. Berry, New World President, said "The banding together of the Mothers of the Nations is one of the greatest means of achieving World Peace." Education being one of the main factors to work with. All of this was so interesting but time was all too short to go into complete detail. Read the Home and Country magazines for the full account.
Mrs. J. Black of Heath, Rose Willow W.I., was elected Constituency Convener for the coming term.
Entertainment was provided in the following way: Solos by Mrs. Clarke Steele, Fabyan and Mrs. S. Lefsrud, Viking; Readings by Mrs. G. Theroux, Kinella, and Mrs. A. E. Francis, Viking; A chorus by members of the Buffalo Coulee W.I. and a drill dance by four girls from Bruce.
Miss Pat Jones of Mannville and Mrs. Betty Kirkman of Irma supplied the music for the day.
Five branches entered in the handicraft display, Kinella taking first prize, Buffalo Coulee second and Quinsie third. Miss Randle of Edmonton did the judging and gave a brief commentary on the work. It is hoped there will be more work along this line next year.
Conveners for Standing Committees are as follows:
Handicraft—Mrs. P. Miller, Irma.
Home Economics—Mrs. Clarke Steele, Fabyan.
Health—Mrs. Alt Toverud, Viking.
Education—Mrs. Harry Child, Viking.
Agriculture and Can. Ind.—Mrs. J. Hemphill, Viking.
Social Services—Mrs. James Jackson, Irma.
Citizenship—Mrs. G. Theroux, Kinella.
Mrs. S. Lefsrud kindly invited the Conference for 1954 to be held in Viking.
Mrs. J. Black of Rose Willow W.I. gave a very fine courtesy report, thus ending a most satisfying W.I. Conference, closing with God Save The Queen.

Cancer

QUESTION: Can cancer develop from chapped hands and lips?

ANSWER: A lip made repeatedly sore by the sun or weather may develop cancer. Many lip cancers seen in farmers are due to irritation by sunshine. Hands are more likely to develop cancers in areas that chaf easily.

Practical Education For Farm

(This is one in a series of short articles prepared by E. H. Lange, Director of the Diploma Course in Agriculture at the University of Manitoba and sponsored jointly by the Manitoba Department of Agriculture and the Faculty of Agriculture at the University of Manitoba.)

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS BELIEVE IN EDUCATION

The successful operation of a farm has always required ability and knowledge. Ability comes, to a great extent, by inheritance, and it is fortunate for us, and the world, that common sense and ability is to be found in abundance among the farmers of Canada. Most farming knowledge, however, is obtained by experience. There is no substitute for experience. There was a time when experience was considered sufficient for successful operation. This is hardly true anymore. The farmer who reads, listens to the radio, and goes further afield for new ideas and knowledge is usually more successful provided he maintains what is called "common sense". Thus, while farm experience is as essential as ever, education for Agriculture has become more and more important. The best farmers, the most successful ones, make sure that their sons and daughters supplement their experience gained on the farm, by formal education to enable them to meet the ever increasing complexities of modern farm operations.

The Diploma Course in Agriculture at The University of Manitoba and the Agricultural and Homemaking School at Brandon are designed to give practical information to farm young people. Courses of four and five months duration are given at these institutions during the winter months when work on the farm is at a minimum. Enquiries are always welcome and calendars may be obtained by writing The University or the Manitoba Department of Agriculture.

Funny and Otherwise

A young business man returned home tired out from a hard day at the office to find his two children rushing madly about the house. He scolded them and sent them off to bed. The next morning he found this note pinned to his bedroom door: "Be good to your children they will be good to you. Yours truly, God."

"What did your wife say when you got home from the club dinner last night?"

"Not a word. I was going to have my two front teeth extracted, anyway."

"Yesterday John asked me to marry him and make him the happiest man in the world."

"And which have you decided to do?"

Watson returned to his native town after some years abroad. "Has Watson changed much in the years he has been away?" asked one who had heard of his return but had not yet seen him.

"No," said the man addressed, "but he thinks he has. He persists in talking about what a fool he used to be."

An exasperated Hollywood producer was describing his holiday.

"Did I have trouble with my wife?" he complained. "She's the type of person who's never satisfied. She had to go to a hotel that charges a hundred dollars a day. The day after she had to go out horse riding. So what does she do but fall off the horse and get knocked unconscious. I called a doctor and he said she'd be unconscious for 10 weeks."

"Unconscious for 10 weeks?" exclaimed a listener. "What on earth did you do?"

"Moved to a very much cheaper hotel."

Every American boy has a chance to be President when he grows up—and that's just one of the risks he has to take.

A politician has to be able to see both sides of an issue so he can get around it.

An expectant father—a commercial traveler—knows the post office to not his secret, arranged that the nurse should, on the happy day, send him a telegram in code. If a boy: "Saturday's joint arrived." If a girl: "Sunday's joint arrived."

Imagine his surprise on receiving a telegram: "Saturday's and Sunday's joints arrived. Expecting a rabbit on Monday."

When Sam was asked how he budgeted his income, he replied: "Oh, about 40 per cent. for food, 30 per cent. for rent, 30 per cent. for clothing, and 20 per cent. for amusement and incidentals."

"Don't that makes 120 per cent."

"I've had a worrying time with the insurance people. They ask such awkward questions. They even wanted to know the state of my mind."

"How absurd! I suppose you left that blank."

A peasant was taken to hospital for a serious operation. Before it was performed he was given a good bath. As he left the bathroom he exclaimed:

"The operation was not so bad after all!"

GLOW DECEPTIVE

Date For Annual Seed Grain Show Is Announced

WEYBURN.—Final arrangements have now been completed to hold the seventh annual fall seed grain, storage vegetable, and honey show at the Legion hall here Oct. 17. The show is sponsored jointly by the Weyburn Agricultural society and the senior chamber of commerce.

It was announced that a tractor rodeo will be staged in conjunction with the fair. Members of four junior tractor clubs, located in the district have been invited to take part in the rodeo. The rodeo will probably be staged behind the Legion hall in the city parking lot.

Prize lists for the fair will be ready soon, and as in other years, big prizes will be offered in all classes covering a wide variety of grains, sheaves, storage vegetables, preserved fruit and honey. Lists will be made available by secretary Roy Schultz.

The Weyburn regional fair is planned to cover entries from the entire southeastern portion of the province and includes some 38 rural municipalities.

Fair officials feel that in this area there is bound to be many outstanding samples of all classes of farm produce included in the prize lists.

Special hall exhibits are also planned and will include such matters as chemical treatment of grains and storage bins, and seed cleaning.

Judging of all classes of exhibits will be completed Oct. 16. On the evening of Oct. 17 an agricultural rally and banquet is being planned. Arrangements are being made for special speakers at this rally.

Human Interest "Best Asset" In Weekly Newspaper Work

SASKATOON.—Human interest was "the greatest asset" the weekly newspaper business has, Tom Melville-Ness, business manager of Canada's third largest agricultural weekly, the Western Producer in Saskatoon, told some 350 delegates to the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association's annual convention at a luncheon meeting.

"Newspaper readers are eternally interested in people," he said. "The farmers, doctors, fishermen, anyone that does things for the sake of doing, rather than for fame or publicity—those are the backbone of the weekly newspapers."

Mr. Melville-Ness divided people into three types as far as their relations with newspapers were concerned.

"First, there's the housewife that raised the best tomatoes, the

Scotty Craigmyle Veteran Jockey To Retire

CALGARY.—One of the greatest jockeys who ever rode on Western turf, Scotty Craigmyle is retiring as a jockey at the summer season ends.

Craigmyle began his saddle career before most jockeys now riding in the West were born. He is one of an illustrious line of great jockeys from the West, including Johnny Longden and the late George Woolf.

The "Flying Scotsman" last year won his 1,000th race of a career that started in 1925 at Salt Lake City, Utah, although he was born in Calgary. He rode his first winner at Tia Juana in Mexico in 1926 and made his debut on the Prairies the same year.

Since then he has ridden on many major race tracks and his services are still in demand. Craigmyle was the leading jockey at Tia Juana in 1926, and his contract was sold to Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $15,000. He rode for that big stable for two years, and was about the favorite in San Beau in most of that colts races.

He considers Reigh Count, sire of Count Fleet, the greatest horse he ever rode. In 1926, and his contract was sold to Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $15,000. He rode for that big stable for two years, and was about the favorite in San Beau in most of that colts races.

Craigmyle's major riding feat has been winning the Canadian Handicap in 1926, and in 1931 won the $5,000 Speed to Spare Handicap at Edmonton, Alberta's major open feature race. That time he was aboard Sir Lennard, owned by Lee Lear, former coach of Calgary's football Stampede.

After the fall meet in Winnipeg, Craigmyle plans to concentrate on a new job with Alberta Ranches Ltd., Calgary, where he'll work with Johnny Longden and the latter's son, Vance.

This summer he flew to California to ride Alberta Ranches' Indian Hemp in the Hollywood Gold Cup.

Scotty is married to a Vancouver girl, sister of a jockey, and they have two sons.

Announce Winners In Competition

TORONTO.—Winners in the three divisions of the Canada-wide 25th annual competition were announced at a board meeting here of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. Cups will be presented to the winners.

Winners are: Essay competition on rural home: Mrs. Leigh de Kempt, N.S.; honorable mention: Mrs. Bruce Edie, Dugald, Man.

Two-woman history (group effort): Glenora, Ont.; honorable mention: Pense, Sask.

Handicraft (group effort): Appliqued quilt of original design, Conquest Homemakers Club, Sask.

Frances MacKay, of Winnipeg, said there was a greater interest in the competition this year than ever before.

Redwater Oil Field To Be Re-pressurized

REDWATER, Alta.—The Redwater field, Canada's largest oil-producing area 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, is due for a long drink of water. The 24 operators in the 60-square-mile field are planning to utilize the region and repressurize it by a water-injection program.

Millions of barrels of water from river-supplied wells would be delivered to the oil wells by a set-pumped beneath the prolific D-3 pool to keep oil moving up. More than 900 wells have produced about 60,000,000 barrels of oil since Redwater was discovered in October, 1948. With all that oil taken out of the ground and water comes with it something has to be put back to maintain pressure at the bottom of the wells.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

WORLD NEEDS THE MINISTRY OF JESUS

The Son of Man, said Jesus, referring to Himself, "came not to be ministered, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

What does it mean to minister? The dictionary says that it means to supply as something needed.

And the outstanding fact of all humanity is human need. It is the one common denominator of the human family.

Jesus came to supply man's need, or to teach men the way to God's supply. There was no need of man to which Jesus did not minister.

And that ought to be written in the present tense, for there is no need to which Jesus does not minister today.

Even the basic physical needs of man for food, health, housing and welfare can be met in our modern, complex world only as men learn to be mutually helpful and minister to one another in the spirit of Jesus. It is ministry that the world needs most.

But the supreme ministry of Jesus was the ministry of salvation, the ministry in which He did indeed give His life a ransom for many.

There appeared in a boy's paper once a picture of a shipwreck at sea. A vessel, returning from the California gold mines, was going down.

The picture showed miners casting their bags of gold across the deck with the cry, "Take it, who will, we are all going down!"

The man who has spent his life getting and grabbing, and even being successful at it, is like those miners, little as he realizes it.

"My God shall supply all your need," says the Apostle. And first in man's need is the kingdom of God, and His righteousness.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

TEAR OUT THE GRASS

By Robert Oberfirst

ALBERT HARRISON had to get up out of the long grass because Max Stone, the farmer, caught sight of him and said, "There's work to do."

Albert muttered at the fates that had directed the farm employment agency to send him to this sun-baked farm. "You'll like it on the farm," they had said. "The Stones will take you right into the family. Stone is a good man but a sick man and he needs help." Albert could see nothing about Stone who worked from dawn to dusk. Even the two kids joined in the endless toil.

"Better finish hoeing the corn, Albert. Two hours to dinner."

"Okay, Mr. Stone. I was just resting. I'm not used to this farm work."

"You'll get used to it."

Albert picked up the hoe and watched Stone pass the horse Prince to the plow. From the first he had abhorred the thick-soled shoes worn by the farmer, like two shapeless clods of earth on the land which Albert's own one-shinned city shoes had to follow whenever Stone shoved him what next, to hoe. This hoeing business! And the sun nothing but a furnace! As he pried the hoe, he thought back to the city where he belonged, where his parents lived. Shame that they were so poor they couldn't have him live with them while he wasn't working. Things had been fine until he was laid off at the gas works.

Now the woman coming out, wearing her gingham apron in which she had just finished cooking the noonday meal. She carried a hoe. That woman was a fool!

Albert could see the two boys crawling along on their hands and knees and wedding a patch of beets. Mr. Stone was yelling at the top of his voice, "Giddy-yap, Prince! Come on, you lazy rascal!" And this, thought Albert sourly, went on year after year.

Presently, Albert was dreaming again of the city. The dances and the girls! In the city you live, laughed, had some fun.

Now Mrs. Stone was telling him, "Bend down, Albert. Tear out the grass. Don't tear out the corn." Albert winced. That was the purpose of her existence. Tear out the grass.

He could walk out, could hitchhike back, could make little loans from the farmers he knew. But he remembered that the fellows had hated him for his attempts to scrounge. He remembered the hunger. No good. There were three squares here. Soon time. He could tell, from practice, by the sun at the top. "Come eat dinner," announced Mr. Stone as she finished a row. "Max! Dinner!" She didn't have to call the boys. They were streaking toward the house.

At dinner—potatoes, beef, bread pudding, apple pie—Stone suddenly leaned forward on the table and the potato on his fork fell to the floor. "I knew it would come. The attack. Albert, take the truck and hurry for Dr. Fisher." She applied cold compresses to Max's stomach. He breathed heavily.

The doctor was calm. "This time he will have to have an operation. It's the gall bladder. You can't take any more of this. I'll take his head."

First one boy said boo-boo, then the other. Mrs. Stone placed a blanket over him to keep out drafts when they rode. Then she put her chubby hand with its torn nails on her husband's forehead. Albert didn't hear any sobs as Dr. Fisher drove away with the farmer.

The woman in her gingham apron went to the shed and got her hoe. The two boys followed. "There's work to do," she said. They started toward the cornfield, but a few yards off she turned her head and her eyes looked straight at Albert. "Okay," he said.

Infestations Of Ergot In Rye Crop

The Saskatchewan department of agriculture has received numerous reports recently of unusually heavy infestations of ergot in the rye crop now being harvested, according to an announcement by H. E. McKenney, director of the department's plant industry branch.

Mr. McKenney noted that rye grain ergot, if it contains more than one-third of one per cent. ergot after docking and is subjected to approximately an 18-cent per bushel lower price than rye grading No. 2 CW.

Mr. McKenney emphasized the danger of ergot bodies in rye, pointing out they are poisonous to humans and can cause abortion in livestock. Prolonged feeding of affected rye, he said, produces the disease ergotism among livestock.

He said that since planting of fall rye, which is normally done to best advantage during the early part of September, will soon commence, special attention should be given to the use of seed which is as free as possible from ergot bodies. He stated that if care is taken now it may help prevent heavier infection in next year's crop.

Mr. McKenney noted several methods that are useful in controlling the spread of ergot bodies. For large seed lots, the use of fairly heavy six bladed rye will remove a considerable amount of ergot from the seed.

In small lots of seed, ergot bodies can be completely removed by immersing the seed in a 20 per cent. salt solution made by dissolving two pounds of salt to a gallon of water. The ergot bodies will float off and the rye seeds will settle. The seed must be rinsed and dried following this process.

Other control measures include the rotation of crops in preference to rye following rye, and the cutting of native grasses along headlands. Mr. McKenney pointed out that native grasses act as a primary source of infection for ergot in rye.

Seeding slightly deeper than normal will bury the ergot bodies thereby preventing them from germinating and causing infection in the crop later. Seeding should not be done at a depth greater than two inches, however.

Old Street Car Converted Into Church

CALGARY.—Luxurious outdoor swimming pools aren't usually associated with churches, especially when the church is interdenominational and fashioned from an old streetcar.

Such is the arrangement that has made a holiday motel located on Bragg lake near here such a success. The architects, Cliff Butler and Fred Fry of Calgary, spent three years on the project. Sixteen abandoned street cars that once rattled through Calgary streets make up the motel. Thirteen have been converted as spacious cabins designed for four people, one as a shower car, one as a coffee car, and the last a church car complete with organ.

They are grouped in a wide circle around a park, the centre of which holds an outdoor swimming pool 85 feet by 35 feet.

The original seats have been left in the church-streetcar, except for a cleared space at one end that serves the organ. Nearly 40 persons can be seated at one time.

The cross that adorns its roof was cut from spruce.

The church didn't really figure in the camp plan at first, but grew with requests of local residents to use one of the cars as a Sunday school.

New Strains Of Poultry Said To Resist Disease

VANCOUVER.—Poultry breeders are producing new strains of chickens resistant to a disease for which there is no known cure, two American poultry experts said.

Dr. F. B. Hutt of Cornell University told delegates attending the annual conference of the Poultry Science Association that he and other poultry experts at the university had been developing strains resistant to leucosis for 15 years.

Leucosis, one of the most widespread poultry diseases in North America, is similar to cancer in human beings. It can cause paralysis or blindness in fowl and often results in death, particularly among chicks.

Dr. Hutt advised poultrymen to keep newly-purchased baby chicks in isolation for six to eight weeks to prevent introduction of disease to their premises and which products?

Dr. Leslie R. Card, University of Illinois, said there is no known test for leucosis prior to appearance of the symptoms, and no known antidote. Breeding for natural resistance was the only possible defence at present.

IS THIS A RECORD?

GULL LAKE, Sask. — A Holstein cow, born and raised on the farm of Sven Persson and Son, south of Tompkins, 15 years of age, has had 16 calves; three sets of triplets, three single calves and two sets of twins. This looks like a record for the district, or has any farmer or cattle breeder anything better to offer.

HAIL CLAIMS IN ALBERTA MAY HIT RECORD

CALGARY, Alta. — Alberta farmers who collect at least $3,500,000 from the Provincial Hail Insurance Board for storm damage to some 1,900,000 acres of grain crop, it was learned.

Board Chairman Glen Elder said 4,672 claims for hail damage in 1953 had been received, and the total probably would amount to the all-time high mark of 5,908 claims filed in 1947.

Walter Ashfield Honored By Newspapermen

In recognition of many years of zealous service to, and on behalf of weekly newspapers, one of Saskatchewan's prominent weekly editors, Walter Ashfield, of Grenfell, was made a life member of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers association at the 34th annual convention in Saskatoon.

Mr. Ashfield has for several years been secretary-manager of the Saskatchewan division and has served for some years on the executive of national association as well. His paper, The Grenfell Sun, won first prize for best front page in a national competition for papers up to 1,500 circulation.

THIS MAY START CROW ORNAMENTS

ROSE VALLEY, Sask. — Some people get a frog in their throat but Bill Hastings had a crow in his grille. When driving into town Bill struck a crow that was a bit tardy in getting out of the way. After arriving in town he discovered the crow wedged in the grille, and very much alive. Who knows, maybe a new fad in radiator ornaments has been started.

Report Cards Made Simple For Parents

VICTORIA.—British Columbia parents this school term will get coaching in how to translate their children's report cards.

Education Minister Tully Rolston said enclosures will be made in report cards explaining to parents how to use the markings and find out where their youngsters stand in their grades and how they're progressing.

Education officials have steered away from giving set marks for grades because, they feel, that system labels a child. They point out that a child's progress in school courses is only one phase of his overall character.

But parents have criticized the present system, which grades a child's progress, according to his native ability and environment, because they can't understand it. The explanatory notes to be included in the report cards starting this term will explain to parents that even if a child gets a "D" for unsatisfactory development, he isn't necessarily dull.

BELIEVES HAIL PROBLEM HAS BEEN SOLVED

WINNIPEG.—The Manitoba director of an American weather modification company says the hail problem is "definitely licked."

Lloyd McKenley of the Weather Resources Corporation told a Winnipeg Kiwanis Club meeting that results of a 3½-year, $2,000,000 research project at Denver have proved hail damage can be controlled.

Experiments undertaken in one of the worst hail areas of Colorado had succeeded in reducing hail to "mush snow."

He said two major American insurance companies were interested in the project.

Cost of controlling hail is higher than the rain-increase project. He said weather control is definitely a science now in the same stages that television was 10 years ago.

Mr. McKenley is director of a 400,000-acre weather modification project which began operating in southwestern Manitoba this spring. He said his organization also is setting up a 5,000,000-acre contract west of Saskatoon.
